

A big shout-out to CUPE BC for their support and their sponsorship of this show.

Jan. 19th Presentation: 5:30–7:00 pm Stand Up For Mental Health

This pandemic is challenging for CUPE members working as frontline workers across B.C. We have had to learn new ways of doing things under challenging conditions. Many have faced pandemic fatigue and fear in a situation that changes frequently—working despite the lack of a mask mandate, and fearing for the health and safety of our families and loved ones with health issues that put them at risk.

Members may experience depression themselves or worry about a colleague or friend and want to know how to reach out to them to let them know someone cares.

This webinar features a one-hour performance by counsellor and stand-up comedian David Granirer and his Stand Up For Mental Health comics. Q&A to follow.

Resources available to members include:

- Employee Family Assistance Programs (EFAP) cover various items and are available through most school districts. Check with your district on what your coverage includes.
- Visit the Public Education Benefits Trust \(PEBT\) website and search for “mental health” to find resources for members.
- Check with your local and district to find out what benefits you have available for mental health support.
- Contact your shop steward/local executive.
